Field Demonstration of Two-Row Castorbean Harvestor Successful

J. D. Moore, County Agent

The field demonstration of harvesting castorbeans with a two-row stripper harvester machine held on the Homer Watson farm last week was very successful, reports the County Agent.

Some fifty farmers were well pleased with the successful operation of the harvester machine. The two-row stripper works very much on the same principle as that of the cotton stripper with two parallel brush type rollers spaced close enough to take the beans off the plant in the hull leaving the stripped stalk standing. The beans fall into a conveyer which empty into an attached trailer pulled behind the tractor mounted stripper.

The cost per acre for mechanically harvesting the beans is $6 per acre. This compares favorably with hand harvesting based on an average yield of 600 lbs. per acre at a cost of $1.00 per 100 pounds for hand harvesting. At present, the two-row stripper sells for $2,400.

It is our opinion that the Cimarron variety of castorbean is better adapted to machine harvesting because of the smaller size plant and its ability to stand in the field until frost kills the leaves without the beans

Milam county farmers were disappointed to some extent at the announced of 6c per pound to be paid for the 1954 crop. This price will not encourage the acreage we should have and certainly will not compete with grain sorghums and other crops on some of our better soils. shattering too much.

SCHOOL CENSUS TO BE TAKEN DURING JANUARY

Hinton H. Pruett, County Superintendent, Milam County Schools, calls attention to all parents to the fact that the 1954 school census will be taken in January rather than March as heretofore done.

Pruett said, however, that the same procedure will follow as last year. The only difference in taking the census is that it will be taken in January instead of March. He said a census trustee will call or send the proper blank to each home for parent's or guardian's signature.

Superintendent Pruett also calls attention to the fact that application for school transfers of students from one district to another must be filled with the County Superintendent before June 1, 1954. This date has been, for many years, as of August 1. He said that the only change in this procedure, too, was the date from August 1 to June 1. No applications will be handled after June 1, 1954 Pruett stated.

Superintendent Pruett concluded by saying that it is the parents sole responsibility to see that transfers are made of their children, and that they are properly enumerated on the Milam County school census roll.

An Explorer District Planning Conference will be held as the Explorer Roundtable this month under the leadership of Dr. Boyce. The representative young men from each Post and Explorer Crew in a Troop in the Milam District, along with their Advisors will plan three or four District-wide events that they would like to have during the coming six months. Highway Employee Hospitalized As Result of Accident

M. W. Williams, 44, of Cameron, was hospitalized as the result of a pickup-car collision on U. S. Highway 79, about six miles west of Rockdale. The mishap occured at about 11 o'clock a.m. Tuesday, January 5.

Cameron Highway Patrolmen John Blansit and Otis Hilderbrand investigated the accident.

Blansit said that Allie H. Woods, 49, of Milano was driving a 1953 Studebaker pickup west on the highway. He came upon and hit the rear end of a 1950 Ford Sedan driven by Paul Andrew Jezisek, 19, of Thorndale.

The impact threw the Jezisek auto into Williams, who is employed by the State Highway Department as a flagman. Williams was working in the construction area which is taking place between Rockdale and Thorndale.

After being hit by the Jezisek vehicle, Williams was thrown off of the 14-foot embankment, the officers reported. The Woods pickup also went off the same embankment after the collision.

The investigating patrolmen said that at the time of the mishap, Jezisek was at a standstill. He was hauled by Williams because of State Highway trucks working in the construction area.

Williams was taken to St. Edward Hospital here where he is being treated for a fractured left hip and pelvis. He was reported to be in an improved condition on Wednesday morning.

Blansit reported that both ve-

Farm Program To Be Discussed At Agricultural Meet

Texas farmers, ranchers, dairymen and anyone else interested in agriculture are invited to attend a public meeting in Waco January 13 of the House Agriculture Committee of Congress to give their ideas on a farm program.

Congressman W. R. Poage, ranking Democrat on the House Agriculture Committee, has completed arrangements with the help of Waco Chamber of Commerce. Poage said he expected between 15 and 20 members of the committee to attend. Clifford Hope, R. — Kansas Chairman of the House Agricultural Committee and ranking committeeman, will preside at the Waco meeting.

"This will be the first meeting of the full committee in Texas since 1947 when the group met at Temple. Anyone who wants to appear before the committee is welcome and invited to do so. He should write to the clerk, House Agriculture Committee, Washington, D. C., giving his name and stating he wants to appear before the Waco hearing. The clerk will prepare a list of the names, and these names will be heard first. It is not necessary to do this however. The committee will stay in session until everyone who wishes to be heard has been, "Poage said.

Poage has traveled some 7,000 miles in similar hearing throughout the nation, seeking farm advice from farmers and others interested in agriculture. The Waco meeting will be the only one scheduled for Texas. "And it will be the first time we have held such a hearing while the Congress is in session," Poage added.

At the Waco meeting, Poage said he believed that the most discussed topics will be cotton allotments, support prices (including cattle support prices), reorganization of the Soil Conservation Service, and reorganization of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. "But, of course, we want to hear anything anyone has to say on the agriculture situation," he added.

Bill Changing Belton Reservoir Authorization Opposed By Poage

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 — Rep. Bob Poage, Waco, declared here he will vigorously oppose any legislative effort in this session of congress by the Brazos River Authority to get passed a bill changing the authorization act for Belton reservoir to permit taking water from the Little River valley and giving it to South Texas rice growers.

"This water belongs to the Little river valley of Bell and Milam counties, and I am going to do all I can to see that folks of that area and their descendants get to keep it."

Poage said there is 45,000 acre feet of water set aside by the President by law for conservation and irrigation of land in the Little River valley. He understands the Brazos River Authority feels that since this water will not be needed now in the area owning it, the BRA should be given the authority by congress to take possession of it. They plan to sell it, Poage said, for rice farming in Wharton and Matagorda counties.

Poage said why sell water to users who live 400 miles distant when it may be needed 40 miles from the reservoir?

The water is limited to use for agricultural purposes only. Another portion of the Belton reservoir storage would be set aside for industrial uses which may grow heavy as Central Texas industrial enterprises, subsidiary to the aluminum and other plants, begin to mushroom.

Poage pointed out that the folks in the Little River Valey have not been able to use water for irrigation purposes in the past because they have suffered such heavy floods but with control of water in the Brazos now a reality through the erection of dams and by the future erection of other dams. It may well be that valley residents will someday need and cry for that water.

Poage cautioned that there will not be full flood control in the Brazos river basin until two more dams, the Lampasas and the Proctor, are built. They are all part of the program recommended in the Brazos river study by army engineers.

Poage said he be understood that the contract between Brazos River Authority and Southwester Power Administration for BRA purchase of the power from Whitney dam is still in the Interior department here, awaiting the approving signature of Interior Secretary Douglas McKay, The contract has been there at least six weeks, Poage said.

W. Obermiller Explains Local DAV Service Foundation Methods In Raising Funds Here

Recently there has been some criticism of the DAV Service Foundation on their method of raising funds—First, let me explain that local chapers, Regional Officer, State Department, do not participate in raising funds for the Service Foundation: All local funds are used locally.

One of the criticisms was that "none of the funds went directly to any disabled veteran"—This is not a fund from which the disabled veteran receives his compensation—The Service Foundation Fund is used to pay the salaries of the National Service Officers of which there are ten or more in Texas alone, stationed in the V. A. Regional offic such as Waco.—These National Service Officers are necessary for this reason—No Disabled Veteran automatically receives benefits from the Government; a claim must be filed and every claim must be positively proven.

The Government fuctioning through the Veterans Administration, acts as Defendant, Judge and Jury on all veteran claims. It cannot, alse act as attorney in-fact for a claimant, nor, can it properly prosecute claims against itself.

Positive proof of entitlement to any government benefit—available only under certain conditions under one or more of some 900 laws administered by the V. A., rests with the claimant. This is the job of the Service Officers. They must be specially trained and they must know the law, and, are in nearly all cases, disabled veterans.

Another criticism was the high cost of conducting fund drives. It is probable that the Board of Trustees have let contracts to some professional fund-raising people, some of whom are not too scrupulous.

One leading scandal-loving magazine criticized the D.A.V. for sending Ball-point Pens and miniature car license tags, (Idento-Tags), to people who did not request them. I knew positively that no contract was let by the D.A.V. to anyone to send Pens into this State.

If any pens were received in Texas requesting a contribution, they were not from the D.A.V.

On the other hand, I will strongly defend the sending of the Idento-Tags for the key chain for this is a useful service, and, no one is requested to make a contribution. You may contribute if you wish, or, you may keep the tags and use them without making a contribution. Your lost keys with tags will be returned to you regardless of how old, or, how new your tag is. The entire Idento-Tag service is operated by men in wheel chairs. They do a tremendous job, and, do it well!! Actually, more money is given by the public to shysters and professional can-handlers who sell things in the name of the D.A.V. without authorization than is given to the legitimate organization directly, or, indirectly.

These people selling buttons, flags, and, sometime, flowers are seen at Fairs, Ball-games, Bus stations, or, anywhere there are crowds of people, and, sometimes even on the streets of any town. Thy are not selling for the D.A.-V. for this organization never at any time autorizes an individual to make such sales. Our only sale is that of the "Forget-Me-Not" which is held only one day in each year by members of the local Chapter and is always duly publicized. We plead with the public to please remember this and help us to discourage such practice by not contributing to such people. We want to be a useful part of our Community, not a hindrance !!!!!

Churches Send Food & Clothing To Hongkong

Responding swiftly to the emergency need of 70,000 Chinese refugees made homeless and destitue in Hongkong by the Christmas Night fire in that overcrowded city, Protestant churches ih the United States made available, through Church World Service, in excess of 320,000 pounds of food and clothing for immediate use in aiding victims of the disaster.

This was announced by Dr. Wynn C. Fairfield, Executive Director of the Central Department of Church World Service, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

The supplies being put into immediate distribution are in excess of 70,000 pounds of clothing and 140,000 pounds of foodstuffs on hand in Hongkong warehouses, as well as 50,000 pounds of clothing and 62,000 pounds of dried milk powder shipped to Hongkong during the last two months and scheduled to arrive there within the next few days.

Also, $10,000 has been forwarded by cable to Hongkong to be used in the emergency by the Hongkong Advisory Committee. The money represents the amount thus far contributed from year-end balances by denominational relief agencies. This amount will be increased as further contributions are received from other churches in response to the urgency.

The emergency relief action was taken trough Church World Service upon receipt of a cable from Dr. Elmer W. Galt, Hongkong representative of Church World Service, setting forth the distress conditions existing in the fire-swept area. The Hongkong Advisory Committee, composed of leading members of the local Chinese Christian community as well as representatives of the British and American missions, already is cooperating with the Hongkong government in providing emergency feeding and clothing.

The stocks of food and clothing used in the emergency situation will be replaced later by Church World Service by food and clothing collected through its Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) and through other clothing centers in the nation.

The cash funds contributed by the churches were made possible through response of their memberships to relief appeals, notably the "One Great Hour of Sharing" united appeal.

McINTOSH'S

Editor's note: The Little River Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Little River seems to be discussing politics this week.

Dear editor:

With a political year shapin up, I have naturally devoted considerable thought to politics lately, although politics to me is an enterprise similar to plowin, something more to be observed from a distance than to be participated in actively, and I've noticed an odd thing.

From time to time I have noticed where some prominent man, being talked up by rumors as a possible candidate for some national job, has declined to get interested on the grounds he does'nt want to bring up his children in Washington. And some Washington officeholders have declined to run for re-election, just to get their children out of the place.

I have thought about this a long time, and while it's my opinion more men have been ruined in Washington than children, still in Washington-shy men may have a point and I've been wonderin, you reckon we ought to start a campaign to make Washington a fit place to bring up children in?

Of course, the thing isn't as it sounds. In the first place, most grown-ups in Washington were put there by the voters and if it has resulted in the place turnin into a town unfit to bring children up in, you can see whose chickens have come home to roost.

Moreover, while I never have considered the problems of the nation could be attributed to juvenile delinquency in Washington. I always figured you'd have to go up the age scale just a little to really put the blame in the right place, still somebody has to serve in the national capital and if nobody's left there except the parents who don't care how their children are brought up, you can see what the future of the nation is.

I was talkin this problem over with my neighbor and he suggested it could be solved by movin the national capital some place else besides Washington, but I doubt if this would work. In the first place, where would you put it? We got no room for it out here. And in the second place, what would keep the new place from turnin into another Washington, if the same people was runnin it?

Personally, I prefer to work on the agle of keepin Washington to where it is and tryin to work out some system whereby it will become a safe place to bring children up in. I know a lot of men you couldn't trust to send to Washington, but didn't know you couldn't trust children there either. Something ought to be done about this right away, as there are a lot of good men we could use up there.

Your faithfully,
J. A.

The '54 BUICK 's got it— The BIG CHANGE you've been hoping for!

BUICK

The instant you see these 1954 Buicks, you'll know that something sensational has happened in automobile styling.

Here is vastly more than the usual model changeover. Here is vastly more than could be done just by warming over what Buick had before. Here is something accomplished by going far beyond artful face-lifting.

Here is that rarity of rarities—a completely new line of automobiles.

But Buick didn't stop with the bolder, fresher, swifter-lined beauty you see in raised and lengthened fender sweep—in the huge and back-swept expanse of windshield—in the lowered roofline—in the host more glamor features of exterior modernity.

They upped all horsepowers to the highest in Buick history.

They engineered a new V8 for the SPECIAL—and in the process came up with new Power-Head Pistons that boost gasoline mileage in every engine.

They brought to market a sparkling newcomer with a famous name, the Buick CENTURY—a car with phenomenal horsepower for its weight and price—a car with more pure thrill per dollar than any Buick ever built.

And they did all this without change of the price structure which, for years, has made Buick the most popular car at its price in the world.

We invite you to come in and inspect these great beauties, these great performers, these great buys. Then you'll see why the Detroit previewers are already saying, "Buick's the beautiful buy!"

When better automobiles are built Buick will build them

Yoe Cagers Take Two Defeats In Temple Meet

The Cameron Yoemen were beaten in the final second by a crew of Yellowjackets from Cleburne in the first consolation game of the First Annual Invitational Basketball Tournament at Temple.

The Yoemen were downed Thursday by Comanche in the first game.

Frank Hyde of Cleburne shot a fast field goal to give the Yellowjackets a 38-37 victory over the local cagers.

Hyde's shot from deep court was in the air and headed goalward when the final buzzer sounded and as it went true to its mark the game was over.

The Yoemen had pulled into the lead with the seconds ticking away, only to have their victory bubble popped with the long set shot.

Dean Weatherby placed the local team by dumping in 12 points. He was also high point man during the game. Hyde of Cleburne shot 10 points for his team. Charles Eanes of the Yoemen and Usury of the Cleburne tied for third high with 9 points each.

MOD Drive Gets Under Way Here

The 1954 March of Dimes was getting off to a fast start in Cameron this week, according to Rev. John Solomon, local chairman, who said that pledges of support were coming in from all quarters.

Placards and coin collectors have been placed on counters in stores throughout Cameron. In the meantime Chairman Solomon is completing the early plans of getting the campaign organized.

Working with Solomon are Leo Jackson and Albert Collins. The Churches of Cameron have also been contacted for their co-operation by Rev. Solomon.

Solomon said that work of organizing the Cameron schools for the drive has been started and Principals Wiley Loughmiller of Ada Henderson School and S. M. Layfield of Yoe High School have been named chairmen of this committee. Working with them will be members of the faculty.

The date for the Mothers March has been set for January 29 and Mrs. Bill Burns is local chairman. Further details on this March will be announced later.

Mrs. Cynthia Saage, county chairman, has called on all citizens to open their hearts and pocketbooks and give generously. "The year 1954 may well be the turning point in the fight against polio, " she said. "We all must help."

"The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has embarked on a large testing program of a trial vaccine that may some day spare our children the dread effects of polio," Mrs. Saage continued. "In addition, the National Foundation is planning for an expanded program of mass gamma globulin inoculations in 1954 in order to give every possible protection while waiting for the results of the vaccine tests.

"This program is tremendously expensive and will require more dimes than ever before. But these dimes and dollars are the best investment we can make for the future security of our most precious asset — our children.

"With our contribution we also guarantee that every victim of polio, past or present, will get the best available medical care regardless of financial status. Our county chapter stands ready with a helping hand for all polio victims."

Moseley Explains Purpose of C of C Special Committee

At the last Board of Directors' meeting of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce, President Richard Moseley explained to the directors the purpose of the Advertising and Soliciting Committee.

He stated that this secret committee considers and investigates requests from persons seeking to solicit and sell in Cameron. If the request if found to have merit, a permit is issued by the Chamber office allowing the person or persons to solicit.

Moseley said, however, that this permit does not constitute the Chamber of Commerce's endorsement of the solicitor and his product. President Moseley also pointed out that the committee can not prohibit anyone from making solicitations since it has no police power. Therefore, it was asked that each member of the Chamber of Commerce not cooperate with anyone who does not have a permit.

Robert Abel, manager of the Chamber of Commerce said cards are available at the Chamber office which read: "Advertising Collector's! Donation Seekers! Ticket Sellers! Must Have a Solicitor's Permit from the Chamber of Commerce before transacting business with this firm."

He stated that if the merchants and members of the Chamber of Commerce do not already have one of these cards, to pick one up and display it in a prominent place. Everyone was warned, for their own protection, to make every solicitor show his permit card and not to cooperate with anyone who does not have one. Instead they are asked to call the Chamber office so that the Advertising and Soliciting Committee will have a chance to investigate this person without the permit.

J. D. Moore Gives 1954 Outlook For Feed, Peanuts And Dairy Products

J. D. Moore, County Agent

Total supplies of feed grains and other concentrates for the 1953-54 feeding season are slightly larger than in the past two years. However, supplies vary sharply by areas. In the Southwest, Texas included, the drought has reduced feed crop production, and present supplies are below average.

The 1953-54 corn supply is near a new record; but supplies of oats, barley and sorghum grains are all below the average of recent years.

Because of the large corn supply, the carryover of feed grains as of October 1, 1954, will be near the all-time high. This will tend to reduce prices for the 1954 feed crop.

Large quantities of 1953 corn is expected to be placed under price supports, which may result in some tightening of the supply situation and only slightly seasonally advancing prices later before the 1954 crop comes on the market.

The prices of all feed grains are expected to remain lower in the early part of 1954 than a year earlier but may advance later in the 1953-54 feeding year if hog and poultry production increases early in 1954.

In studying the outlook for the 1954-55 Feeding Year, which consumes much of the 1954 crop, it is know first, that we will have a large carryover for the 1954 crop, with which to compete. Second, corn acreage allotments in 1954 would result in some reduction in corn acreage.

However, larger acreages of other feed grains are in prospect for 1954 as a result of acreage restrictions on wheat, cotton and probably corn. Grain sorghum acreage probably will increase in 1954.

The price of 1954 corn will be supported at 90 percent of parity.

The support price of 1954 oats, barley and sorghum grains are again based on 85 percent of parity.

Prices for the 1954 feed crop probably will average slightly below or about the support level in view of the outlook for increased supplies.

The total supply of peanuts during the current marketing year beginning September 1, 1953, appears sufficient to meet normal edible uses with some surplus for crushing. Carryover stocks on September 1, 1953 were more than any other year on record.

In 1953, the southwestern area of the United States had its best crop in several years. Estimated production in this area is double that of 1952.

There is little possibility of significant exports of peanuts for edible uses.

From the domestic demand standpoint, the per capita and total consumption of peanuts for edible uses during the marketing year beginning September 1 1953, will be about the same as it has for the last several years.

The domestic and foreign demand for peanuts for crushing is relatively strong, but at prices only about 55 to 60 percent of the 1953 support price.

The national marketing quota and acreage allotment for peanuts in 1954 have been set at 673,785 tons and 7,610,000 acres. If growers approve quotas in the referendum in December 1953, the 1954 crop will be supported at 90 percent of parity.

The year 1954 may bring the dairy industry many experiences similar to those of 1953.

Consumer demand for milk products will be about as strong in 1954 as it was in 1953.

Consumer demand for milk products will be about as strong in 1954 as it was in 1953. Production of milk may about equal that of 1953. However, the carryover of manufactured dairy products into 1954, including government price-support holdings will be a record high.

The total supply of milk and dairy products in 1954 will be equivalent to about 128 billion pounds of whole milk, compared to 124 billion in 1953.

Consumption of individual dairy products, such as milk, butter and cheese, probably will change little from 1953 to 1954 unless price supports are reduced substantially. In that case, consumption would increase.

Dairy costs may decline next year, and net income from the dairy enterprise probably will be little different in 1954 from that of 1953.

With demand and supply prospects at the present time, perhaps more than in other recent years, the price may depend heavily upon the level at which dairy supports will be set for the marketing year, which begins April 1, 1954.

The support price for milk and for butterfat must be set at between 75 and 90 percent of parity.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Fortinberry and son, Alan Wayne, of Bogalusa, La. spent the past two weeks visiting Mrs. Fortenberry's parents, The A. H. Halberdiers.

Hudson Truck Service Showing New 1954 GMC Truck Here

The first of a shipment of 1954 GMC trucks, combining functional styling and a 125- horsepower engine in the light line, has arrived at Hudson Truck service and is on display it is announced by C. W. Hudson.

In addition to styling and extra power for the light duty GMC's truck Hydramatic has been extended through the medium duty classifications which range up to 45,000 lbs. gross combination weight. The Hydra-Matic transmission for these medium-duty trucks and highway tractors has eight speeds forward and two in reverse and is patterned after those used in the famed GMC 6x6 military trucks that went through the most rugged conditions on the battlefields of Korea.

At 125 horsepower, the 248 cubic inch gasoline engine makes GMC light trucks the most powerful of any in the half-ton through one-ton field. For truck operators needing more economy than power, there is a special carburetor for the 248 engine that gives extra mileage while having a maximum of 115 horsepower.

The 1954 GMCs have entirely new styling with such previously unheard-of features as two-tone paints and two-tone upholstery, and a de luxe model that goes all-out for sleek beauty to accompany its brute strength. The new look will be extremely important for truck users who realize that utilitarian beauty is a real prestige asset to their business.

The new de luxe cabs on GMC models 100-24 through 250-24 have chrome grilles, bright window reveal moldings, arm rests, extra sun visor, jet plane hood ornament, chrome hub caps, and de luxe upholstery. Interiors are in a heavy, leather-like material which will outwear leather and can be wiped clean with a damp cloth.

There is a choice of 12 brilliant new paint colors and six color combinations in dual tones of green, brown, red, blue, and white which will stylishly contrast with a select group of two-tone interior colors.

Power steering is available on the series 350-27 and on through the heavier classifications and will help solve on the big problems of over-the-road operators driver fatigue.

Ten Per Cent Cut In Income Tax Due

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 Americans will receive a cut of about 10 per cent in personal income taxes Friday but an increase in Social Security taxes will more than offset the reduction for milions of small wage earners.

The excess profits tax on business also expires Friday after being extended six months at President Eisenhower's request. Coupled with the drop in income taxes, it means an annual revenue loss of about $5 billion for the government.

The last cut in personal income taxes went into effect in 1948. Since then there have been two increases — one in 1950 and another in 1951 to help defray expenses of the Korean War.

While persons in the middle and higher income brackets get an overall tax cut on New Year's Day, those in the lower brackets actually will have their taxes increased since Social Security levies jump from 1 ½ to 2 per cent.

Social Security taxes are paid both by the worker and employer on the first $3,000 of a worker's salary.

President Eisenhower has asked Congress to postpone the increase. But chairman Daniel A. Reed (R- N. Y.) of the tax-framing House Ways and Means committee, and chairman Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) of the Social Security tax subcommittee, have opposed the President's request.

CAMERA TOPICS

A fine example of how side lighting can be used to create the illusion of depth. This Graflex prize winner was taken by Robert Simmons, of Baton Rouge, La., with a 4 x 5 Pacemaker Crown Graphic in 1/10 sec. at f/32.

"3-D" EFFECT WITH ANY CAMERA

With all the publicity that's going around today, no one has to be told what "3-D" is all about. For many photographers, however, creating the illusion of a third dimension is nothing new. They've been doing it for years with standard equipment.

What's the secret? There's no secret at all. It's just a matter of putting a light source, particularly sunlight, to proper use. When the full effect of this source is achieved, pictures will have a texture, a quality of roughness and smoothness, that creates the illusion of "3-D."

You can discover this technique for yourself with a small amount of experimenting. Follow the sun's various angles on a subject during the day. When the light just skims the surface, casting little shadows on the high spots, you get the fullest feeling of texture. With the sun at or behind the plane of the subject, that is backlighting, or side-lighting you get the strongest impression of form in depth. This is the light that models the subject, showing its roundness and sculptural qualities and simulates the sensation of the third dimension.

To be more specific on the various angles of sunlighting, here are some effects to look for. Backlighting from high above separates the subject from the background for 3-D effect. Side-lighting with its delicate shadows gives a sculptural effect. Diffuse sun produces only soft shadows, subtle modeling, while the direct sun of midday casts the strongest shadows and the most pronounced modeling. High sun from directly overhead is also especially effective in bringing out the texture of the subject's surface. Perhaps the strongest feeling of depth and perspective can be achieved with the rim lighting and extended shadows of the rising or setting sun.

These are just a few of the hundreds of effects you can achieve by means of both natural and artificial lighting. You'll be delighted to find that you, too, can be a single lens "3-D" photographer without half trying.

KNOW YOUR WATERWAYS

What Is Economy?

THE PORT OF HOUSTON, SECOND LARGEST IN THE NATION, 50 MILES FROM THE GULF. VISION INITIATIVE RESOURCEFULNESS

A greater America tomorrow depends largely upon continuing harbor and channel development—but according to George H. Palmer, Publisher of The Marine News of New York, during the past two years such work has been allowed to dwindle to almost nothing.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954, only $3,144,000, a little less than three fourths of one per cent of the Army Civil Functions Appropriation Bill is provided for actual harbor and channel widening and deepening in only eight states. The Nation has a coast line of some 30,000 miles (Great Lakes included) along which are more than 200 harbors with many of them needing more depth and area. Many channels need straightening, widening and deepening; many cannot be maintained for maximum use with the amounts being appropriated for that purpose.

Palmer says that real federal economy is efficient management, waste avoidance and spending that adds to assets and productiveness. Waterway development of the past contributed tremendously to the America of today through its fine ports, harbors and channels. They are tremendously important in the economic progress of the Nation, vital both during peace and war.

Who knows what future harbors and channels may become indispensable to the Nation, and when? The Marine News says many at present cannot take care of modern deep draft vessels; those that can might not be strategically located or available at a critical time. More adequate harbors and channels and adequate maintenance are not only security safeguards; they are needed to care for the Nation's expanding industry and commerce and to accommodate larger and deeper vessels.

The natural harbors and channels of America are unrivalled in all the world. They are yet largely undeveloped. Unless it is realized that development and expansion have been almost completely abandoned and that a reasonable program must be resumed immediately, great potential benefits will not be available for many years.

Baskin Farm Show Effects of Proper Soil Conservation

Edwin Fischer

Gordon Baskins farm near Cameron has probably felt the effects of as much successful Soil Conservation as any farm its size in this area.

It is interesting to compare the aerial photographs made in 1941 and those made ten years later. The old photographs show severe erosion in every field. Raw gullies are evident in the fields and pastures. The timber in the pastures is heavy in the old photograph, and there are no stock ponds. Today the picture is different.

The erosion scars in the fields has been replaced with terraces running across the slope. At least four good stock ponds have been constructed for stock water, erosion control and wildlife. The pastures have been cleared to some extent to allow more room for grass. Some of the poorest land has been seeded to King Ranch bluestem or Bermuda grass. Every terraced acre of cropland is farmed on the contour. Each acre has felt the results of Hubam clover not once but several times. Controlled grazing, pasture mowing, over seeding and brush clearing has improved the pastures. The crop residue in the fields is managed to to protect the land from the water and the sun. Erosion control dams and grass are healing the deeper gullies that carry off excess water.

Baskin is cooperating with Central Texas Soil Conservation District in carrying out his conservation program. He started his plan several years ago and is progressing toward a complete and coordinated soil conservation program. As he nears its completion he is still looking for new ideas and new techniques to control the erosion and improve the land.

Pansy Loper And Ray Becker Marry In Church Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Pansy Louise Loper and Ray W. Becker took place Thursday, December 24 at four o'clock in the afternoon in the United Evangelical & Reformed Church of Ben Arnold. Rev. Albert Petrich, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Loper of Burlington and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Becker of Cameron.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Loper, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, were the couple's only attendants.

Miss Loper chose as her wedding garment a soft grey wool suit with a white hat sprinkled with sequins. For her bridal bouquet, she carried an orchid atop a white Bible. The tradition of something old, something new, etc., was also carried out by the bride.

After a short wedding trip the couple will make their home in Dallas, where Mr. Becker is employed.

Supreme Court Ends Housewives' SS Tax Revolt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — The Supreme Court apparently wrote a legal "finis" Monday to the angry Texas housewives' revolt against paying Social Security taxes for domestic workers.

It ruled that persons who employ maids must pay the Social Security tax and can't deduct it as a business expense.

The high court rejected an appeal by Mrs. Charolyn M. Abney of Marshall, Texas. Mrs. Abney and 10 other Texas housewives angrily protested that the tax was unfair and threatened not to pay it.

The court spurned Mrs. Abney's argument that the 1950 tax provision is illegal because it deprives her of "liberty and property without due precess of law" and discriminates against employers of domestic help.

The Social Security law provides that employers of domestic help who work 24 full days and earn $50 in a three-month period must withold one per cent of a maid's pay and match the contribution themselves.

Mrs. Abney and her husband refused to pay $12.57 in such taxes in 1951. The government seized that amount from their bank account.

The Abneys sued for a refund but lost in the lower courts. They argued that the low forced them to "perform the tasks attendant to the withholding of taxes levied upon another."

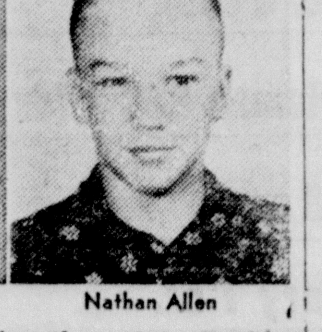
They also argued in vain that the law discriminates against an employer of domestic help because he is not allowed to deduct the social security payment from his income tax as a business expense. Business men are permitted such a deduction.

Name Texas 4-H Youth for Awards

HIGH RATINGS in the 1953 National 4-H programs were received by three teen-agers in the Dairy Foods Demonstration and Poultry programs. Statewide recognition in Texas was based on their club records.

Mildred Hoelscher

Margaret Wendland



Nathan Allen

A Dairy Foods Demonstration that won first honors in Texas was carried out by the team of Mildred Hoelscher, 15, and Margaret Wendland, 15, both of Robstown.

They have utilized many ways of varying the diet by the use of dairy products, stressing the value of milk for good health.

Their high ranking team demonstration was "Baked Custard." Chosen state winners, each girl is awarded a 19-jewel wrist watch by the Carnation Company.

In carrying out this program, the teen-agers learned to speak well in public and developed poise and good sportsmanship. They performed a genuine service to their communities as well.

Nathan Allen, 15, of Brownwood, has been selected as state winner in the 1953 Poultry Achievement program. His trip award to the National 4-H Club Congress was provided by Ford Tractor Division, Ford Motor Co.

His record shows that he won grand champion tom turkey and reserve champion hen awards at the Brownwood show this year. His awards include a medal for poultry at the 4-H Club Achievement Day banquet. He has helped many younger boys enrolled in the poultry project.

Despite the hours of effort devoted to the poultry program, Nathan found time to serve as secretary of the Early 4-H Club. He has been in 4-H Club activities for five years and has completed projects in field crops. He is the son of L. L. Allen, who farms 120 acres.

Domestic Cotton Usage Declines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — The Agriculture Department reported Monday domestic cotton use is showing a five per cent decline from last year and predicted a post World War II record of about 9.6 million surplus bales will be left over at the end of the season.

The Agricultural Marketing Service noted that domestic consumption in the first quarter of the 1953 - 54 marketing year totaled three million bales, down about five per cent from last year.

If the rate continues, it said, the total for the season ending next July will be about nine million bales compared with nine and one half million in 1952-53.

Earlier, the department had predicted that domestic mills would take "from nine to nine and one half million" bales of the total supply of 21.9 million bales.

The department said exports this season are still expected to be about 3.3 million bales, the same as estimated in October, which would be slightly up from the low 3,048,000 shipped overseas last season.

With use of only 12.3 million bales from current supplies, the department said the surplus carry - over on Aug. 1 1954, would total 9.6 million bales, about four million bales more than at the start of the season.

Benefits To Kin Of Lost Korean G. I.s Due Soon

Washington. — The government Tuesday began sending out notices that benefits may be awaiting the relatives of more than 3500 servicemen who had been listed as "missing in action" in Korea and now are presumed dead.

The Veterans Administration said all appropriate notices and forms needed in applying for death compensation, servicemen's indemnity or insurance benefits are being mailed to beneficiaries.

V. A. said the letters are being sent out as rapidly as advice is received from the armed forces. It said beneficiaries will save time by awaiting receipt of the letters rather than writing V. A. for information.

In all cases, the agency said, the army or air force had already notified next of kin of the presumption of death as of December 31, 1953. Some have been listed as missing for more than a year.

Alamo Marine Platoon Still Accepting Entries

Applications are still being accepted for the Alamo Marine Platoon, an all-Texas unit, it was announced today by Staff Sergeant, Henery Brown, of the local Marine recruiting Station.

Plans call for the 150-man platoon to leave for training January 28. Enlistment in this new platoon offers young men the opportunity of taking their training and first leaves with their friends before going on to more specialized training or duty at one of the Marine Corps posts around the world.

This is the second Alamo Marine Platoon to be formed. The first left for training in July, 1953, and made such an outstanding record that the Commandant of the Marine Corps authorized formation of the new unit. The new platoon will also carry a special flag, donated by a San Antonio business man, through their basic training. The platoon will be in competition with units from several other states.

All members of the platoon will have an opportunity to try for one of the Marine Corp's 140 schools that train men in 470 specialities. In addition, the new Marines will be able to continue their education through the Marine Corps Institute free of charge.

Special ceremonies have been planned in connection with the Platoon's departure, including swearing-in ceremonies before the Alamo.

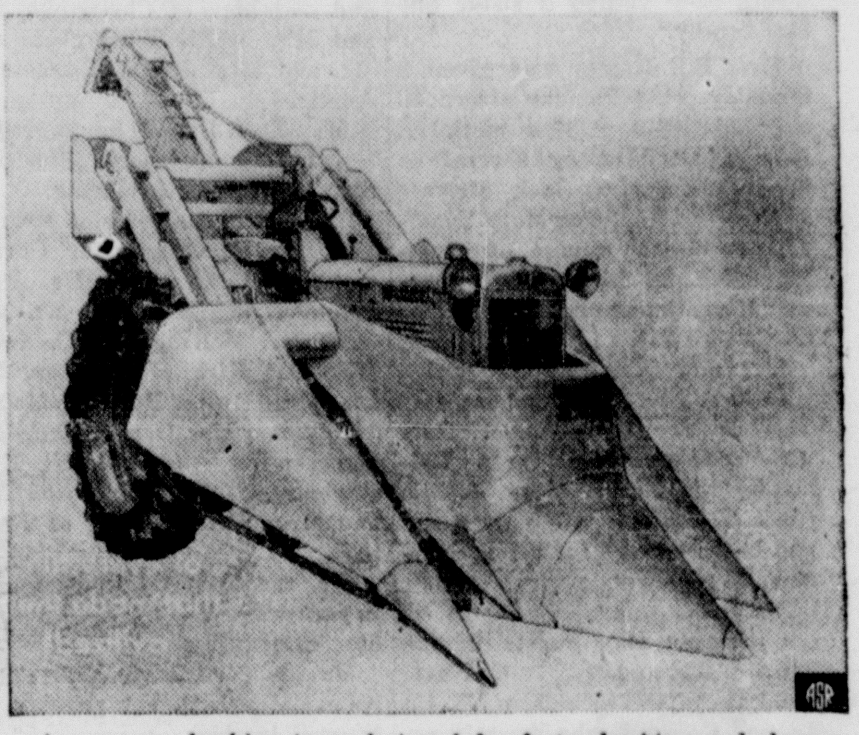
TEXAS POWER & LIGHT COMPANY

New Corn Husking Team



A new corn husking team designed for faster husking and cleaner corn has been developed by Minneapolis-Moline. The team is the new ZB tractor and 2-Row Mounted Huskor. The Huskor is easily mounted on the ZB tractor by 4 pins in the front and 4 pins in the rear.

Gathering chains in each picking unit of the Huskor move the corn to the snapping rolls. Snapping rolls are 53½" long and revolve on roller and ball bearings. There are ten 36" husking rolls, each with alternating sections of rubber and cast iron. An oscillating raddle keeps the ears pressed against the husking bed making sure all the husks are removed.

A large corn saver under the husking bed catches the occasional loose kernels. The high speed cleaning fan cleans the ears as they drop into the wagon.

Uni-Matic power permits fingertip up-and-down control of the picking mechanism.

The new ZB tractor retains the best features of its predecessor, the Model Z tractor, and incorporates a number of important new ones.

Some of the new features of the ZB are a 12-volt ignition system for quicker, more positive starts, and an automotive-type pressure controlled cooling system. High compression cylinder heads and a high compression ratio give the ZB new fuel economy. New split-beam headlights make night work and road driving safer.

The platform is mounted higher to put the driver up and out of dust and heat. The new Flote-Ride seat adds to his comfort. Centerline steering increases visibility.
